HINDUSTAN INTERNATIONAL SCHOOL - PADUR

(A UNIT OF HINDUSTAN GROUP OF INSTITUTIONS)

FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK

Dear Readers,

Welcome to the January edition of our school newsletter.

Our Annual Day, held on 12th January, was a spectacular showcase of talent and creativity. This year, each grade took on the theme of one of the ancient wonders of the world, bringing history to life with their performances. From the grandeur of the Great Pyramid of Giza to the architectural marvel of the Taj Mahal in India, our students transported the audience on a journey through time and across continents. The stage came alive with diverse costumes and mesmerising dances, leaving the audience spellbound. We are proud of every student, teacher and staff member who helped to make our Annual Day a huge success.

We also celebrated Republic Day with great vigour and enthusiasm. The event was made memorable by the presence of a retired naval officer who shared his views and insights with us, inspiring us to contribute to the betterment of our country. January has truly been a month to remember, filled with moments of pride, joy, and reflection. Let's keep the innovative, tenacious, and patriotic spirit that has characterised this month going as we travel forward.

A TINY CHANGE

In this story, the author expresses herself and the situations she faced in real life because of her laziness.

She feels that it could be helpful for anyone who does not know how to overcome their laziness and how to succeed in life!

(The story starts here...)

Dad: Hannah, do you want to join Tennis class?

Hannah: Sure, dad, I'd like to join tennis class!

Mom: You won't even wake up early? How does it work for you?

Hannah: Mom, I will wake up early! I am sure about that.

Mom: Let me see then!

(The following day, Hannah 's father met the tennis coach.)

Coach: Hi dear, what's your name?

Hannah: Hi, Coach. My name is Hannah. I am super excited to play tennis.

Coach: Good to know. Get into the court, and let's play.

(Hannah started playing tennis and got friends.)

Next Day ...

Mom: Hannah, wake up ! It is already 7:00 am, only 15 more minutes to go to tennis class.

Hannah: Let me sleep for 1 minute.

Mom: You still didn't wake up? It is 7:20 am.

Hannah: Yes Mom, 1 second please.

(Hannah woke up finally and went to the class. She was 15 minutes late for the tennis class.)

Coach: Why are you late today, Hannah?

Hannah: Sorry, coach, I was sleeping for a long time.

Coach: Okay get into the court.

Hannah: Sure coach.

(As days passed, Hannah didn't change her attitude. She was always late to tennis class. Her parents got frustrated. One fine day, her mom talked with her very politely.)

Mom: Hannah, what's your problem? Why can't you wake up a little bit early?

Hannah: I have become sluggish. I am not able to wake up early.

Mom: You are my dear child. You can't simply say that you are lazy. You have many ambitions in your life.

Hannah: Okay, Mom, from now I won't repeat this.

(Hannah could not keep her promise and started failing in sports, and this lousy behavior led her to poor performance in her studies and was unable to create a good bond with her parents.)

(After many failures, she lost confidence in herself.)

Dad: Hannah, what happened to you? Why are you not showing interest in anything? Go, get some fresh air, girl.

Hannah: Sorry, Dad, I let you and mom down. Laziness led me down. But now I don't know how I can correct myself.

(Dad understood her situation and tried to help her to overcome that.)

Dad: Since you realized your mistakes, I am sure that you will succeed in anything you want! You never let us down. Get up and gear up yourself!

(Hannah started bouncing back)

(The Next Day Morning.....)

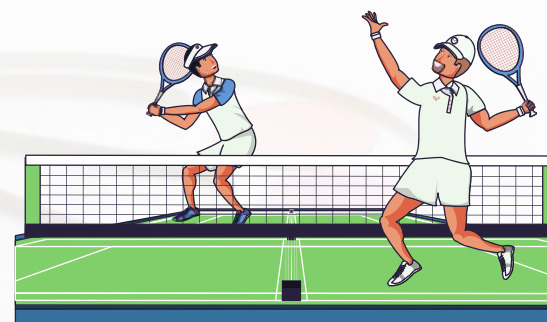

Hannah: Good morning, Coach!

Coach: What a surprise! Hannah, you came to the court before I arrived! I like this spirit!

Hannah: Thank you, sir, you will see my better version from now onwards.

(Practice started...)

Friends: Wow! Hannah, that was great, really with Coach!

Coach: Hannah, that was good! Your focus on today's game is palpable.

Hannah: Thank you, Coach!

Friends: Hannah, can you please teach us your technique!

Hannah: Sure! (with a smiley face)

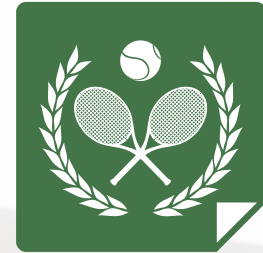

(As days passed, Hannah started playing very well and became a formidable competitor.)

Coach: Hannah, I am happy you have been selected for the national -level tournament. Keep practicing well.

Hannah: Sure Coach. I will give my best!

(Hannah shared this happiness with her parents!

They are proud of her.)

Hannah started getting up early, and keeping herself active throughout the day enables her to excel in sports. Also, she gained great confidence in her studies. She won many awards. She made her parents proud. Her interest in tennis made her become a coach for her brother.

Moral Of the Story:

1. Tiny changes can create significant differences in your life.
2. Believe in yourself, and Success follows you!!
